KNSTE would like to invite you to join their free online conference with a focus on Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) in teacher education. We are building a partnership that is ambitious in relation to its diversity, equity and inclusion responsibilities. We are committed to creating a sense of belonging for everybody in our partnership where we embrace our unique diversities. We recognise that there are inequities in the education system that we wish to challenge, including barriers in the workforce and the curriculum. We are looking to particularly accelerate our endeavours over the next 3-5 years. Our specific action plan aims to tackle many of the existing barriers that we have identified and prioritised – recognising that there is always more to do, as we work towards our inclusive values. We are ambitious to go even further by ensuring that all our practices, support the removal of systematic discrimination underpinned by our shared ambition to improve the life chances and opportunities for KNSTE colleagues, our trainees, mentors and the learners in their communities. We hope that the conference will contribute towards these ambitions.

We are delighted to welcome Hannah Wilson, as our key note speaker (<https://www.hannah-wilson.co.uk/>). Hannah is passionate about Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI). As a Headteacher, she Co-Founded #DiverseEd, as an inclusive annual event to explore intersectional identities. This has led to her speaking, writing, training and coaching individuals and groups on the barriers and the solutions for DEI in schools, including working with KNSTE.

We hope that you can join us for this important and timely initiative.
